

Table 1 Supplement. Recent Constitutional Convention Referendum Votes

State	Year	Yes	No	Next Referendum
Alaska	2012	33%	67%	2022
Connecticut	2008	41%	59%	2028
Hawaii	2008	34%	65%	2018
Illinois	2008	33%	67%	2028
Iowa	2010	33%	67%	2020
Maryland	2010	48%	40%	2030
Michigan	2010	33%	67%	2026
Missouri	2002	35%	65%	2022
Montana	2010	42%	58%	2030
New Hampshire	2012	36%	64%	2022
New York	2017	17%	83%	2037
Ohio	2012	32%	68%	2032
Rhode Island	2014	45%	55%	2024
Average Vote		36%	63%

Source: Ballotpedia 2018

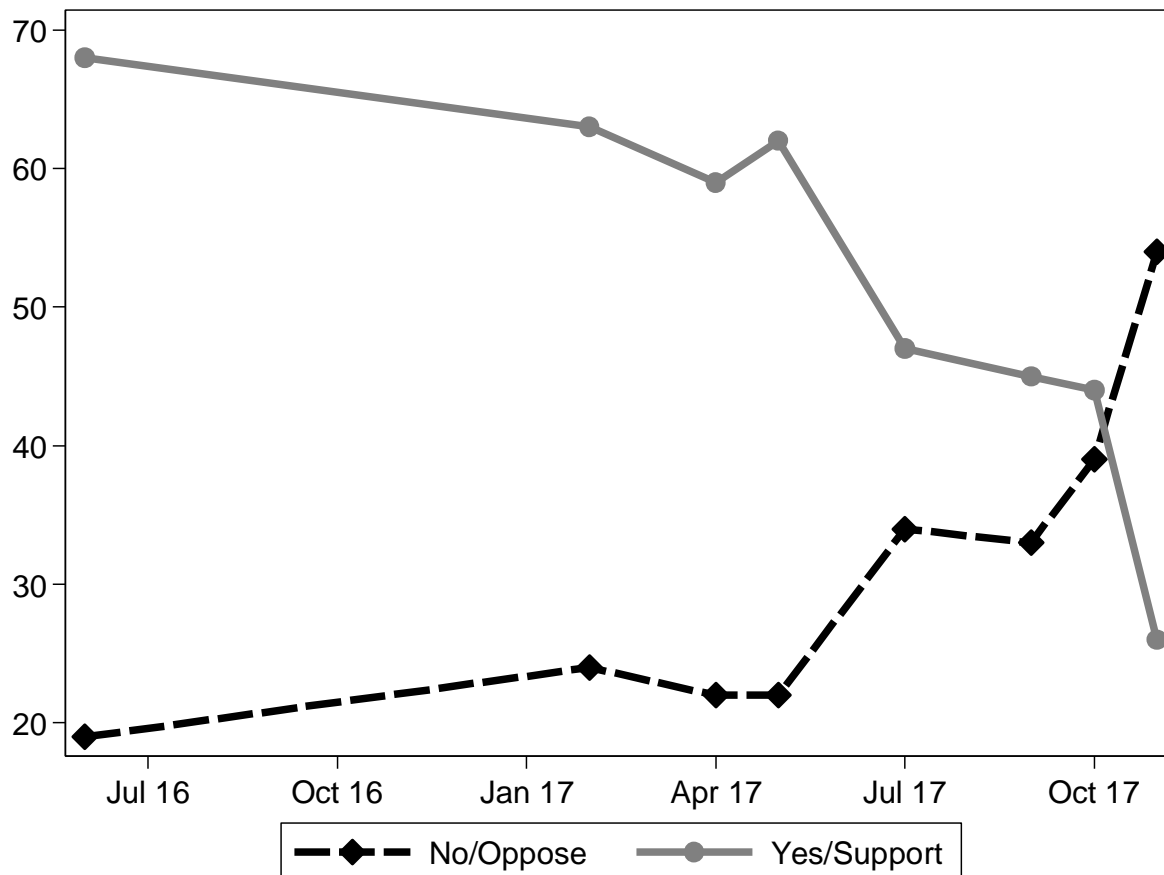

Notes: Maryland requires a majority of all voters in the election, not just of those voting on the referendum in order to approve the convention. Oklahoma's constitution requires a referendum every 20 years, but the state ignored this provision since last holding a referendum in 1970.

Table 2 Supplement. Levels of Support for Various Issues

Issue	Survey	Strongly support	Somewhat support	Somewhat oppose	Strongly oppose	Don't know/ No opinion
Adirondack Development	September	22	21	15	34	8
	October	15	22	16	39	8
Term Limits—Legislature	September	60	21	8	8	3
	October	61	23	8	5	2
Term Limits—Statewide	September	56	25	10	7	2
	October	58	21	11	8	2
Initiative	September	47	31	8	6	8
	October	42	32	10	7	10
Close LLC Loophole	September	58	15	11	13	3
	October	61	16	7	12	4
Full-time Legislature	September	38	28	13	12	10
	October	39	26	14	12	9
Limit Collective Bargaining	September	19	22	18	35	6
	October	18	18	15	42	8
Reproductive Rights	September	61	8	7	21	2
Anti-discrimination	September	67	15	6	9	4
Marijuana Legalization	October	24	22	13	37	3

Note: Cell entries are weighted percentages of registered NY voters.

Figure 1 Supplement. Public Opinion toward CC17

Notes: The figure plots responses to the question, “Specifically, the November ballot question on a Constitutional Convention will ask, “Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution and amend the same?” Will you vote “yes” to have a Constitutional Convention or “no” to not have a Constitutional Convention?” from July 2017 onward. Prior to then, the figures plots responses to the question, “Do you support or oppose having a New York State Constitutional Convention in which delegates propose changes to the State Constitution for voters to approve or reject?” All surveys sample registered voters in New York and were conducted by the Siena Research Institute.